

I strongly object to the Consumer Bankers Association challenge to the Indiana Telephone Privacy Law. These companies were the worst violators of my privacy, calling at all hours of the day and night. Their actions made this Law necessary and they certainly should not be excepted from it.